November 27th, 1918

Professor P. Sandiford,
Faculty of Education,
University of Toronto.

Dear Professor Sandiford:

Pardon my delay in acknowledging your letter and your kindness in sending me the copies of your books. I have been so busy that I have not had time to look into them sufficiently to write anything to you of appreciation that is worth while. I am very glad, however, that you have got out your book, and that it is so well reviewed in "The Times". I had not even read "The Times" for the last few weeks, so the review escaped my attention. It must be a great satisfaction to you to have your work recognized by those who are competent, but I may assure you that I join in congratulations of others.

Yours sincerely,

President.

Professor Sandiford,

Faculty of Education.

Dear Professor Sandiford:

I am enclosing you a tentative programme I have received from Professor Osborne of the University of Manitoba. You may remember that over a year ago we had a discussion on the question of the teaching of morals in the schools which was raised in a Manitoba group. This is the outcome of it, and if you have any suggestions I shall be glad to forward them to Professor Osborne. I should like to answer him within the week.

Yours sincerely,

President.
